Reality is real...that is everything, perception is the way somebody views something. Sometimes the way we view things is not a reality and can be an opinion

This response is directed more at Tonia than anyone else here and I do appreciate all the responses so far. This was not a personal attack on you Tonia. As I stated in my email perception is everything. That's all I'm going to say on that. I was not on the board when the race started or was talked about prior to starting or I would've brought it up then that I thought it was a conflict of interest. Think about this though, I should not have had to bring it up. This is something that should've been understood and known by the board. You are not correct in thinking that Rocco knew about your sales because she did not. She was never told how much you were selling. Again I say it's a win-win for everyone so we are not sore losers and I'm not accusing you of cheating. I am aware that she turned in a large amount on that Friday and you would have no idea how much that was going to be.

I wish the chamber the best in the future, and only hope that you will consider some of the things that I've said going forward in the best interest at the community.

Good Morning all.

While I am not surprised to see this email today, I am disheartened. It is my personal belief that a board needs to be diverse, which is why, three years ago, I invited John and Stacey to a November board meeting and nominated them both from the floor. While we don't agree on everything, if we are able to unite in our love for community and passion for entrepreneurship, we can still be effective for the community. John and I have had private conversations and have agreed to disagree, and I absolutely respect him for that. We know where each other stands, and we find friendship in the common places.

I feel like your resignation contains a bit of a personal attack against me, and given the nature of my industry, when someone calls out my integrity, I am obligated to respond.

If you felt that it was a conflict of interest for me to run for the race, you should have voiced that opinion in May or June at a board meeting where it could have been discussed, rather than via email in September. You state that I was privy to what Rocco was selling the whole time, and I would respond that the same was true for Rocco. You said it yourself, it was in black and white each month at a public meeting. I don't know how much more transparent the board could have been with the numbers. Given that you had a copy of those records, and even asked me to send the September report to you just days before the race was over (to which I complied) since you were not at the meeting, then you had access to the same numbers that I had access to and could have easily shared them with Rocco. I will note that I turned in the bulk of the money that was turned in to me on 10/15 around noon. Between noon and 5pm, another $93 came in, which I turned in on Friday, 10/17. Rocco turned in over $6,000 on 10/17. I had no way of knowing that was coming and I could not have guessed that she would turn in as much in one day as she had for the entire five months preceding. Furthermore, I had a community member approach me on the 15th in my parking lot and offer to give me whatever I needed to secure the race. While I thanked them for their kind generosity, I declined the offer, stating that the race was not about winning, but about serving my community and raising money for my charity. The entire conversation is on my camera system should anyone want to see it.

With regards to your comment about transparency, I do believe that this board is transparent about all we do. Each month, we come together and have public conversations about what we are doing, and where our money has gone. The email that was sent regarding grant funds came during a barrage of other emails, and should have been brought up at the next board meeting by those who were concerned. I can only speak for myself when I say I was not concerned, given that the grant proposition was finalized in February of last year and the funds are restricted to what we told the county we would spend them on. Each month, I report to the county how we used the funds. You're right...it was not brought up in a meeting to answer the question, because the interested party failed to ask the question at the meeting when the appropriate time was offered. These grant funds have been an agenda item every month, so plenty of opportunity has been given to anyone to comment during a public meeting. There is full transparency with regards to the grant money and I reject your accusation otherwise.

I am not sure how you feel 'the board' could have done a better job with regards to the open director seats. It was the job of the committee to turn in the names of three individuals that we thought would be a good fit for the board. It was then the responsibility of those who wanted someone else to be seated to offer up their name at the appropriate time in our meeting. Three years ago, I did just that thing for Stacey during a public meeting held at LifePointe Church. And while I cannot speak for the entire board, I can assure you that if someone had nominated Stacey, even in her absence, I would have certainly pushed for her acceptance to be noted in the previous meeting when she did not object to being re-seated. Given the compassion the board had during a previous time of turmoil in her life after she first accepted the position, I am confident that this board would have extended the same compassion to her during her emergent situation. Unfortunately, no one nominated her. I would see that as a failure of those who wanted her to be re-seated, not a failure of this board. The board handled the situation as the bylaws require.

To answer your question about what the Chamber does, I would invite you to the corner of M Street and Rio

Linda Blvd, to the extensive piece of art that the Chamber helped bring to our town. I would point you to the $27k that was just raised for charity in our community, and the $13k from last year. I would point you to the portapotties at the Christmas Parade or to the light competition. I would invite you to ask the students who received scholarships this year for their resumes, or last year for their business report after FFA and 4H competitions at the County Fair. I would also point you to the great mixers done over the past few years, like the lunch and learn at the Rio Pub, or the Marketing Workshop we had at the Community center, bringing entrepreneurs from Rocklin, Folsom, Sacramento and more, or the educational seminar at Tummys regarding tax credits available to business owners. I could go on.

It is my strong opinion that the board must be diverse in order to effectively serve our community. Yet, in that diversity, we need to be unified by what the Chamber stands for: The Rio Linda Elverta Chamber of Commerce is dedicated to strengthening local businesses by encouraging community involvement in order to stimulate growth and confidence within our local economy.

I am grateful to be a part of this organization and have spent countless hours over the past five + years working to improve the business climate in our community.

I wish you the best and I am sure you will continue to do great things in the community.

Kind Regards,

Subject: Board resignation

Good morning:

After much thought and reflection I have made the decision to step down from the Chamber Board.

When I attach myself to such entities it is with the hope and belief that integrity and transparency are vital traits of the organization. I was honored to be asked, and proud to become part of our town CofC but have become disheartened and disappointed at recent situations and observations.

For instance, the Mayor Race. It is a total conflict of interest for somebody on our board to run and in addition be the Treasurer on said board. I know from personal experience that each candidate is not supposed to know how much the other is selling during the race. That was not the case in this race. Tonia was privy to what Rocco was selling the whole time. In fact it was in black-and-white on our treasury reports in the meetings by line with their names and how much was being brought in. I had two people from the community come to me after the race ended and asked me how somebody on the board could be running and wouldn't that be a conflict of interest. I think it would be a very good idea for this board to create a set of rules for the Mayor race in writing. Possibly make it an attachment to the bylaws because it is a big fundraiser for the Chamber. Now, the American Legion is not a sore loser. Everybody wins in this race as far as getting their 75% of what they sell, but perception is everything.

I also believe that more transparency is needed when a question is asked about where Grant monies are going. This was asked in an email and never responded to. Nor was it brought up in a meeting to answer the question.

Lastly, more consideration, should've been given to a sitting board director (Stacey Bastian), and a little compassion shown due to her current emergency situation when it came time for nominations. She stated her interest earlier, John Todd also heard it. In fact if you look at the minutes from the October meeting under old business, it says "all except John interested in keeping positions". I am actually embarrassed that we as a board did not do a better job of handling this part.

Another question I have been asked recently is "what does the chamber do for the businesses in our community?". That is a very good question and something I was not able to answer with a clear and concise response as my experience with the chamber has not shown me much other than advertising for them on our Facebook page if requested. Again, perception is everything.

Thank you for the opportunity and the lesson.

Katherine Shermer
